

My concerns our with the news media and the ways on which reporting is done. I know i do not have to watch or i can turn the channel but i need not to know the horrifc details on how some one or some person has died. The latest news report being a man being shot in the head after a high speed chase. I do not need to know this, and I am sure glad that I wasn't the parents of this man watching this unfold. But i guess the news media can do this and no body cares.
